RecoMed Junior Developer Assessment

Your task is to design an appointment booking web site. The site must implement the following list of requirements:

1. The site must divide the normal business hours from 09:00 -- 17:00 into discrete timeslots, which are then displayed to the user in a grid form.
2. The component must be accessible via two domains: 1.localhost and 2.localhost:
   a. the first domain must have a blue theme and display time slots with a length of 15 minutes,
   b. the second domain must have a green theme and display time slots with a length of 30 minutes.
3. When a user clicks on one of the time slots, it must be removed.

You are free to use whichever libraries or frameworks you deem appropriate.

You may draw the division between the front end and the back end parts of your solution where you wish.

Keep in mind that this assessment is intended to ascertain your approach to development, this means that the way you structure your code, HTML and CSS is important.

Please include instructions or preferably a script for running your submission.
